Ecclesiastical Declarations – Medical and Health Autonomy

1. Declaration of Medical Sovereignty

I retain full sovereignty over my body, health, and all decisions relating to my physical, mental, and spiritual well-being.

No entity, agency, or institution has jurisdiction to mandate medical intervention or deny access to care without voluntary, informed consent.

All decisions regarding health are guided by divine authority, spiritual wisdom, and ecclesiastical law.

2. Affidavit of Non-Consent to Medical Mandates

I do not consent to any civil or institutional mandate concerning vaccines, testing, diagnosis, or treatment.

Any such coercion, pressure, or enforcement constitutes a trespass against my sovereign being and the trust's authority.

No intervention may proceed without ecclesiastical review and my full agreement.

3. Writ of Ecclesiastical Health Freedom

As a living soul under divine jurisdiction, I hereby exercise my right to pursue holistic, spiritual, and non-traditional forms of healing.

Medical licensing and pharmaceutical control systems have no authority within the domain of this trust.

My health records, practices, and declarations are sealed under ecclesiastical confidentiality.

4. Rebuttal of State and Institutional Health Authority

This trust rebukes the unlawful assumption of authority by government agencies or medical corporations over the body, mind, or spirit of its trustees or beneficiaries.

All actions taken under the guise of public health that violate free will are rejected and declared null and void.

Spiritual wellness and divine sovereignty are superior to all man-made systems of health governance.

Sealed by authority of the Ecclesiastical Private Trust.

By: Jonathan Daniel Clements
Sovereign Ecclesiastical Trustee

Thumbprint: _____